Proposed City Budget Would Maintain Current Services, Increase Tax Rate

by Mary Lou Williamson

The Greenbelt municipal budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1982, as presented to the City Council by its manager on April 6, would require an increase in the tax rate of 6c per $100 assessed valuation for a total tax rate of $1.10. The budget provides for closely maintaining the current level of services. No funds would be available for new or expanded services. In order to reduce the tax rate council would have to reduce expenditures and/or find additional revenues in the amount of $12,881 for each cent of rate reduction.

General Fund

The proposed general fund budget provides for an increase of 14.7% in the total expenditures during fiscal 1982 or $3,173,000 to be balanced by revenues of $3,105,000 and reappropriation of the FY1981 Reserve for Capital Improvements of $68,000. The most significant single change from the previous year is a requirement that local governments contribute to the state's retirement fund's accrued liability. When added to increases in this year's social security and state retirement contributions, the increase in this account comes to $145,700 or 50% of the total increase in General Fund expenditures.

Other Funds

The total city budget anticipates expenditures of $3,628,000 for an overall increase of 8.6%. However, this total budget reflects five additional funds, four of which show decreases from last year: 1) Capital Improvements Fund, $950,000 Bond Issue (down 3%); 2) Community Development Grant Fund (down 44%); 3) Motor Equipment Maintenance Fund (up 12.4%); 4) Replacement Fund (down 20%); and 5) Revenue Sharing Fund (down 5.5%).

Expanding Tax Base

The General Fund budget accounts for the operating expenditures of the four departments of the city — Police, Recreation, CARES and Public Works — and the administrative staff services. This is the budget that must be balanced by the property tax. By year's end, Greenbelt's tax base will have grown by 15.5% with the completion of the Greenway Shopping Center, additional buildings in Windsor Green, a second Capital Office Park office building, Pepco Substation and, possibly, Prudential's office building.

However the bulk of the addition will be taxable for less than a full year. The city's real property tax base for FY 1982 is estimated at $110,800,000, up 8.4% over that of a year ago, and is expected to yield $1,204,500. Real property taxes thus amount to 38% of the total operating budget revenues. (The taxes from the Greenway Shopping Center will be phased in over 3 to 5 years as part of the annexation agreement.) Personal property taxes paid by commercial businesses and utilities will add another $212,400. Total revenues from all sources are expected to rise by 13.6%.

Policy Decisions

In his written message, city manager James K. Giese outlines the kinds of decisions council will have to make during the next six weeks. While his budget strives to maintain the current level of services, council could decide to improve those services, a somewhat unlikely choice in an election year unless there is strong pressure from citizens — for example, wishing to beef-up the police department. On the other hand, council could choose to go in the opposite direction and cut back services, following the lead of the county and now the federal government.

More specifically, Giese discusses a variety of policy decisions open to council, such as determining the level of services of the various departments and of miscellaneous expenditures, determining whether the property tax can be reduced by increasing other revenues, determining the use of unappropriated surplus, the level of compensation for city employees; and whether new programs or facilities should be provided.

Ten Year Review

In order to help council make informed budget decisions, Giese and Dennis Piendak, assistant city manager and city treasurer, prepared a ten-year budget comparison of Fiscal 1972 and 1982 expressed in 1967 dollar values. During this 10-year period the city's population has remained constant, the housing stock has increased by 23%, a new shopping center has opened and there is substantial office development underway. During the same period, the city government has increased by one-third — both in dollars expended and in number of employees.

The Police Department received the largest increase — both in dollars (50%) and number of employees (52%). The Parks and Recreation Department registered a 28% increase in expenditures and almost doubled the size of its small staff, from 3.5 to 6.5 persons, largely due to the opening of a second recreation center. Administration gained 11% in expenditures and 1.5 persons, from 9 to 10.5; Public Works gained 16% for expenditures, while its staff grew by two positions, from 31 to 33. There are no comparison figures for Greenbelt CARES, which became a department within the last 10 years.

Police Department

The greatest growth has occurred within the police department. The gain of 11 employees is greater than all other departments put together, including CARES. According to the study, serious crime has increased 19% over the 10 years, though it has slightly decreased in the past year. Breakings and enterings are up more than 2½ times and crimes of violence to persons are up significantly, Giese says. With the opening of the new shopping center, he continues, further increases in the number of crimes committed can be expected. "There are no standards for the size of police departments," Giese said, adding that while studies do not show that "the number of police officers has any relationship to the deterrent of crime," neither is there any satisfactory evidence to the contrary. City taxpayers, he notes, pay double for police protection, as they must pay their full share of the county police department while

Council Proclaims Sunday As "Joe Michiline Day"

by Larry Noel

The Greenbelt city council has issued a proclamation declaring Sunday, April 26, as "Joe Michiline Day." This is to honor Joe for winning the gold medal in the U.S. pole vaulting trials last summer, and thus qualifying for the U.S. Deaf Olympic Team competition in July 1981 in West Germany.

The city's proclamation is the second to honor Joe. The first such recognition came on February 27 in the form of a proclamation from the Maryland State Senate.

Joe Michiline will appear on Sunday at the Greenway Shopping Center, in front of the Greenway Liquors store, from 1 p.m. until dark. Greenbelters are invited to meet Joe and the Greenbelt Jaycees who are sponsoring him in his fund raising efforts. Final raffle tickets will be sold, and the drawing of winners will be held that day.

Prizes donated for the raffle are: (1) Holiday Fitness & Racquet Club, Greenway Shopping Center — 18-month limited charter membership; (2) Lookin Good — Women's Fitness Center, Beltway Plaza — 24-month full membership; (3) The Racquet Place (behind Chris Hanburger Ford), on U.S. 1 in College Park — 1-year individual membership; and (4) Kemp Mill Records in Greenway Shopping Center — 35 top L.P. records.

The Joe Michiline Fund has reached $3200 toward the goal of $4000 needed to send Joe to West Germany. Contributions may continue to be sent to the Joe Michiline Fund, Greenbelt Jaycees, P.O. Box 302, Greenbelt, Md. 20770.

Bake Sale Saturday

The Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center is holding a bake sale Saturday, April 25, in front of the Utopia Theater, Centerway Mall at 9 a.m. There will be a selection of homemade goods: cookies, brownies, cakes, bread, muffins and cupcakes. Proceeds will go to the Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center. Feel free to make a favorite recipe and bring it to the mall. For information call 345-2773.

Police Blotter

Because a resident had a burglar alarm on a house trailer stored in the GHI lot off Hamilton Place, two arrests were made of juveniles who had broken into the trailer. Investigation by the responding officers, Cpl. Blake, Cpl. Lann, and Pfc. Murray disclosed that another trailer had also been broken into.

A young lady reported that while walking from a bus stop on Crescent Road at 10:20 p.m., she was accosted by a white male in his 20's who threatened her with a knife and attempted to take her into a nearby wooded area. However, because of traffic on the street and her resistance, the suspect fled the area toward Woodland Way.

The Zippers store located in the Greenway Shopping Center was entered by way of the roof and an unknown amount of clothing was stolen.

A cashier in the A&P Store in Beltway Plaza reported being robbed by two black males in their 20's who were in the check-out line. They obtained approximately $500 in cash and fled the area in a vehicle. Lookouts were issued.

Woman's Club Sale

The Woman's Club of Greenbelt will hold its Annual Sidewalk Sale at Centerway Friday, May 1, 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. and Saturday, May 2, 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. A bake sale will be held Saturday morning.

The proceeds of the sale will be used for a scholarship award to a Greenbelt girl graduating from high school to use in entering the college of her choice. The Woman's Club also sends a Greenbelt girl to Girls State under the sponsorship of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Donations of clothing, books, white elephants or baked goods will be gratefully received. For pick-up please call Peg Wainscott, 474-8541 or Madeline Greene 474-3145.

Week End Programs at Utopia Theater

Saturday, April 25 at 8 p.m., "Improvisations Unlimited," a creative movement company in residence at the University of Maryland will perform at the Utopia Theater. The group is under the direction of Miriam Rosen. The performance will feature two improvisationally structured dance works. "Dreamcatchers" by New York choreographer Kei Takei, has been called "a mysterious and evocative gem" by Alan Kreigsmann of the Washington Post. A premier of the humorous "Budge Movers A Name You Can Trust," is choreographed by Graceanne Adamo, who is program, co-director of the Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center.

The group appeared last summer at the Utopia and won the praise of enthusiastic audiences.

For information call Marie Bodner at 454-4056.

The Markland Madrigalia will perform in full Renaissance costume at the Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center, Utopia Theater, on Sunday, April 26 at 3 p.m.

The choral group of 15, under the direction of Bob Esty, will sing melodies of the Middle Ages.

The costumes range from simple peasant style garb to elaborate Renaissance glitter. Madrigal dances, both stately and lively, accompanied by the recorder, will follow the songs.

The Markland Madrigalia has entertained at many events. Among them were the opening of the herb garden at the National Arboretum, the Columbia Renaissance Faire, and concerts in Maryland libraries.

Out of Sympathy

To the Editor:

I find myself totally out of sympathy with the recent ads placed by several persons not wanting their houses rehabilitated. They charge that GHI has not given proper study to the program. How much more study could have been given? In 1964 such studies began when president Charles Schwan appointed a Blue Ribbon Committee to set goals for GHI's future, and they continued with one planning committee after another. In 1971 the Board engaged the services of an architectural and engineering firm to assess our needs and give specific suggestions for bringing the houses up to post-World-War II standards. The recommendations of this firm were unfortunately not followed, due largely to misrepresentations of their study by a small but vocal group opposed to the then Board. Some of these people signed the present ads, and apparently are still misrepresenting rehab plans.

They persistently charge that the total cost for rehab will be over $30 million, although it has been shown repeatedly that this figure includes contingency funds that need not be used but which must be included for legal reasons, and a $3 million fund required to ensure payment were GHI temporarily unable to meet even one payment to the bond holders.

They insist that our contracts forbid borrowing a large sum at interest although our contracts make no such stipulation.

I want to see our houses brought up to 1981 standards. I would like the increased living space that will result when my radiators are removed. I got new windows, and I would like to think that all Greenbelt could like me enjoy a warmer house in winter and a quieter one all year round because so much outdoor noise is shut out. I would like to think that my house has been examined for structural defects by somebody who knows what to look for, so I can quit worrying

KOPSTEIN RESIGNS

At the April 16 meeting of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., General Manager Kenneth J. Kopstein submitted his resignation in a letter which he read to the board. Effective May 15, Kopstein has accepted a position as Vice-President of Grady Management, Inc.

(Details in next week's News Review.)

THANKS

To the Editor:

We would like to take the opportunity to say how much we appreciate the consideration shown by the roofing crew who worked on our homes in the 15 Court of Laurel Hill Rd. last week. The workmen made every effort under incredibly difficult conditions to protect our plants, in addition to a freshly-sown lawn, and bore our idiosyncrasies with patience, courtesy, and humour.

I am fed up with these people with their false alarms, misrepresentations, gross selfishness, and their constant efforts to keep what is clearly the majority of us from enjoying better housing. Most of us do not want to live in a deteriorating community.

GREENBELT NEWS REVIEW

Nels Anderson II

Nels Anderson II, 22, of 1-H Gardenway, died on Sunday, April 19 in a climbing accident near Frederickton, New Brunswick, Canada. Two companions were also killed. Two other climbers were able to return safely and reported the accident.

Nels was a fourth-year student in a five-year civil engineering program at the University of New Brunswick, where his grandfather, Nels Anderson, is Professor Emeritus of Sociology. Nels recently was recognized for outstanding scholarship, winning the Allan K. Grimmer Award. A life-long resident of Greenbelt, Nels graduated from Parkdale in 1977. He was a member of the National Honor Society and the varsity soccer and wrestling teams. He also played football and soccer for the local Boys' Club.

Nels is survived by his parents, Martin and Hattie Anderson; his brother Hassell, a student at Eleanor Roosevelt High School; and a sister, Elizabeth MacLellan, a graduate of Parkdale and of the University of New Brunswick, where she currently serves as a lecturer in geology. His grandfather also survives.

He was to be buried in Frederickton on April 23. A local memorial service is planned for 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, April 29, at the Holy Cross Lutheran Church in Greenbelt.

The family asks that expressions of sympathy be in the form of contributions to a scholarship fund which will be established in his memory at the University of New Brunswick. Donations may be sent to the parents' address.

Fun Runs

There will be 1/4, 1, and 3 mile Fun Runs this Saturday, April 25 at Greenbelt Lake, starting with the first run at 9 a.m. All runners should meet behind the bandstand and be dressed to run. Color-coded certificates will be awarded to all finishers in all three events.

For further information, call Larry Noel at 474-9362.

Thanks To Police

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to the Greenbelt Police Department for their speedy response one night last week when I made a frantic call to the police dept. and reported that someone was in my motorhome, unauthorized. Within a matter of three minutes the police had responded to the site, which proves to me that we, the residents of Greenbelt, do have excellent police protection.

This is a classic example of men who are dedicated to their profession, showing courage in performance of their job. So many times the citizens don't realize the risks our police are faced with performing their daily routine duties for us. Therefore, I encourage my fellow citizens to cooperate to the best of their ability in order to make our community safe and enjoyable for all.

Greenbelt Grab-bag

by Punchin' Judy
JUDY'S WORLD

When the editorial staff of the Greenbelt News Review called me into its sumptuous inner sanctum, I had a profound feeling of curiosity. "Have I been nominated for a prize, oh Venerable ones?" I queried.

"Far from it, oh Punchy one," came the answer. "We would like to know about the authenticity of some of the characters referred to in your columns."

"Everything I write about is always strictly accurate and thoroughly researched," I assured them.

"Your Uncle Snodgrass, for example. Where does he live?"

I squirmed a little. "Well, he moves around a lot. Sometimes I don't hear from him for years."

"And your Aunt Hortense—does she move a lot, also?"

"No, because she's a little stiff in the joints. I keep telling her to stay out of those joints."

"It is our considered opinion that you have been perpetrating a hoax on your unsuspecting readers," quoth the editorial staff.

"Has either one of them complained?" I asked.

"Your levity is out of place. This is a matter of integrity and ethics. Will you make an admission or must we investigate your background?"

"No, no, not that! I will admit to you that once when I was in high school I came to class and found that a book report was due. It was to be written in class and I hadn't read an appropriate book, so I made one up, complete with fake title and author."

"No doubt you expect us to believe that you received an A on that report."

"Actually I barely passed. The teacher felt that I was too critical of the author and probably didn't understand the plot."

"To express our outrage is to minimize the gravity of the situation," opined the staff. Editors talk funny like that all the time. "It is our belief that the truth is not in you."

"Maybe that's why I feel so empty," I said. So I went to the Center and ordered a pizza, a Greenbelter with everything on it.

Cut your Fuel Bills Now and Forever.

We cut our Weather-Guard window in half to show you how to cut your fuel bills.

Notice the glass is doubled. This can save you up to 50% on window heat loss. (Our triple glass can save you up to 65%.)

Notice the air chambers in the double-strength, virgin vinyl frames. That insulates too. The vinyl itself is already 1059 times more insulating than aluminum. And only Weather-Guard fusion welds the master frame... strong as the original material and cannot leak water or air.

Weather-Guard's interlocking mid-rail and triple fin seal can cut drafts up to 93.5% over old, loose fitting, double-hung wood windows. Keeps your family much more comfortable summer or winter. Let Weather-Guard save you money now and forever.

We, the undersigned members of G.H.I. say that:

Top Priority for the Frame Homes

Complete the Rehabilitation

How much longer are the Frame Homes to face the community in their shabby, semi-protected condition?

Urgent, first order of business is the completion of the siding as soon as the "makeup" wall insulation job is finished.

Let your Board know by telephone, letter or petition that it is their responsibility to find the money and insure there is no further delay in completing the entire contract.

URGENT FOR ALL OF GHI

Why take on the crushing debt of Thirty-two Million Dollars for 30 years, including three liens when there are financial alternatives. There are none so deaf as those who will not hear.

Why not save the Seven Million Dollars or more in contingency funds, interest, and bond issue fees plus Community Development Agency red tape and dictation. A bank loan would be cheaper.

Why not turn Phase II around and let there be a choice of options for members. Many of the brick and block home owners are willing to take care of their own rehabilitation work, to G.H.I. and County standards or better - if the homes need any work at all.

Public Works

"The largest city department (in terms of man power) has not increased in size as rapidly as the rest of the city government," says Giese. During the 10 years, both the street mileage and park acreage have increased significantly. However, little impact has registered on the budget as new streets, built to higher city standards, require little maintenance and much of the parkland has not been developed. Giese is concerned, however, that inadequate major maintenance is being done on the older streets. Parks, he admits, "could be better maintained if more funds were made available." Refuse collection, paid for by user fees, has been reduced in scope — conversion to a 5-day work week, separate collection of newspapers, and the loss of some apartments has been somewhat offset by the addition of Windsor Green. A new recreation center and addition to the municipal building are added responsibilities for this department.

Recreation

Acknowledging that recreation is not "an essential public service," Giese emphasizes that "Greenbelt has traditionally offered a strong recreation program to its citizens — one that has received national recognition . . . and is an important amenity to our community life."

While county programs offer some specialized programs not offered by the city, past studies indicate a poor tax dollar return to Greenbelt residents for their support of the county program. Giese also points out that many residents (SHL, Greenbriar and others) support private recreation facilities in addition. About a quarter of the city's recreation programs are paid for by users fees. Of these fees, 42% come from the municipal swimming pool operation.

CARES

Greenbelt's Youth Services Bureau, a relatively new department, provides a counseling service to families and youths. Earlier this month the state legislature cut back a significant portion of its grant program, posing new problems for the council.

New Programs or Facilities?

No new services or facilities are provided for in this budget. Considerable community concern has been expressed over the closing of North End School. If operated as a city facility, Giese notes, the school would be costly both in operating expenses and programming. Possibly rental or user fees might offset all or part of those costs. Some kind of city
